

Information on making an application for review – Migration

(For persons in immigration detention) (M2)

You can use this form (M2) if you are in immigration detention to apply for review of a decision relating to a visa, except for a decision about:

- (a) a protection visa or protection findings
- (b) cancellation of a business visa under section 134 of the Migration Act 1958
- (c) refusal or cancellation of a visa on character grounds under section 501 of the Migration Act
- (d) non-revocation of a visa cancellation under section 501CA of the Migration Act, or
- (e) the conditions on a Subclass 070 (Bridging (Removal Pending)) visa.

If you want to apply for review of a decision described in (a), (b), (c), (d) or (e), you must use a different form which you can find on our website (www.art.gov.au) Contact us on 1800 228 333 if you are not sure this is the correct form.

Please read all of the information pages in this form before you start to fill in the application form (pages 1-11).

You must complete this form in English. If you are completing the form by hand use blue or black pen.

You may use an interpreter to assist you. See 'Information in other languages' at the end of these information pages if you need assistance in your language.

You should complete all the details requested in this form. If you do not have enough space for all of your information, you can write the information on a separate sheet and attach it to your application.

Who can apply for review?

The Administrative Review Tribunal (the ART) reviews certain decisions made by the Department of Home Affairs (the Department). The Department's letter providing notification of the decision will specify whether the decision can be reviewed by the ART and who may apply for that review.

In this form 'you' refers to the review applicant. The review applicant(s) is the person or persons who is seeking review of the Department's decision. The visa applicant(s) is the person or persons who are the subject of the Department's decision.

Can an application cover other family members?

Generally, members of a family unit who are named as visa applicants in the Department's decision can be included in the one application form (a combined application). Please note that applications for review of decisions to cancel two or more visas cannot be combined. Please contact us if you need more information.

When should I apply for review?

There are strict timelines for applying for review. You must lodge your application for review within the time limit referred to in the letter from the Department notifying you of the decision. If you do not apply within the time limit, we will not be able to consider your application for review. We do not have any power to extend the time limit.

Required documents or information

If you have it, you must give us a copy of the letter from the Department notifying you of the decision at the same time as you lodge your application for review. If you don't have a copy of this letter, there are certain details you must provide in your application for review, otherwise your application may not be valid and we may not be able to consider it. For more information about minimum requirements for making a valid application, see our website www.art.gov.au.

Dealing with the ART

You can deal with us directly or you can appoint someone to represent you and act on your behalf in relation to your application.

If you choose to appoint a person to represent you, this person is known as your representative. If you appoint a representative, they can:

- communicate with us on your behalf
- give us written evidence and written submissions
- request access to documents relating to the review, and
- attend a hearing with you.

Under the Migration Act 1958, only certain people can provide 'immigration assistance'. They include:

- a registered migration agent
- an Australian lawyer who holds a practising certificate
- a close family member (your spouse, child, parent, brother or sister), or
- a nominator or sponsor if you are a visa applicant.

'Immigration assistance' includes where a person uses their knowledge or experience in migration to assist you to prepare for, or represent you in, an application at the ART.

Only a registered migration agent or Australian lawyer with a practising certificate can ask you to pay a fee for providing immigration assistance.

By law, all persons acting as migration agents in Australia must be registered with the Office of the Migration Agents Registration Authority (Office of the MARA). You can check whether a migration agent is registered on the Office of the MARA's website (www.mara.gov.au).

More information about who can help you with your application can be found on our website.

Corresponding with the ART

Where will correspondence and other documents be sent?

You can choose to have all correspondence/documents sent to you or you can authorise a person (known as the authorised recipient) to receive correspondence/documents on your behalf in connection with the application.

If you appoint a representative in relation to your application, we will assume you are also authorising that person to communicate with us and receive correspondence/documents on your behalf in connection with your application. Any correspondence/document that is sent to your representative or another person you authorise in writing will be taken to have been given to you.

In cases where more than one person applies for review, all correspondence/documents will be sent to the person identified as Person 1 in the application form unless we are notified otherwise in writing. Person 1 should advise all other applicants of any correspondence/documents from us.

If Person 1 has appointed a representative or authorised recipient then we will regard that appointment as applying to the other people named as review applicants in the application form unless we are notified otherwise in writing.

How will the ART send correspondence/documents?

We may send correspondence/documents by email, by fax or by post.

What will it cost to apply for review?

No application fee is payable for an application for review of:

- a bridging visa decision (including any related decision to require a security bond) that resulted in a person being placed in immigration detention, or
- a decision relating to the conditions on a Subclass 070 (Bridging (Removal Pending)) visa, or
- a decision to refuse a visa to a person because they did not satisfy the secondary criteria for the visa. This decision includes a finding that the person, or another family member included in the application, satisfied a criterion that they had experienced family violence committed by the primary visa applicant, who is the person's former spouse or de facto partner.

A fee of $3,727 is payable for an application for review of any other decision.

The fee may be reduced by 50% (or 50% will be refunded if the full fee has been paid) if we are satisfied that payment of the fee would cause, or has caused, financial hardship to the review applicant.

Form Request for Fee Reduction is available from any registry or from our website. Supporting documentary evidence is required for all fee reduction applications.

Where a fee is payable, you must either:

- pay the full application fee, or
- pay 50% of the application fee and lodge a fee reduction application with us, before the deadline for lodging the application for review.

If a favourable decision is made on your case, we will refund 50% of the application fee if the full fee was paid. If you withdraw your application, we can only refund your application fee in very limited circumstances.

How can I pay the application fee?

Payment can be made by cheque, money order, EFTPOS or credit card (Visa or MasterCard only). Cheques should be crossed and made payable to the 'Administrative Review Tribunal'. (Payment is not considered to have been made if a cheque is dishonoured or a credit card payment is not approved.)

Privacy and your personal information

We collect personal information about you from you and others to process your application and carry out the review under the Administrative Review Tribunal Act 2024 and the Migration Act 1958.

In making an application for review, you consent to the collection of personal information about you from the Department or person who made the decision, any other party to the review, or a relevant person or body, where collecting the information is reasonably necessary to carry out the review.

We will give a copy of your application form to the Department or person who made the decision and, if relevant, to any other party to the review.

We will usually give a copy of any relevant document given to us by you, or anyone else, to the other parties to the review for the purposes of the review and to the Department when the review is finalised. Information about you may also be disclosed to the Department or a relevant person or body in the course of making inquiries or requesting an opinion for the purposes of the review. For example, to education bodies, courts and law enforcement agencies.

The information we collect may also be used for other purposes relating to the administration of the Migration Act 1958, for another review involving you, if it is reasonably necessary to do so, or to improve our services.

Information available to the public

Where a migration review requires a Tribunal hearing, the hearing will usually be open to the public. The Tribunal may, on request, give members of the public access to evidence (exhibits) given to the Tribunal for a hearing.

If the Tribunal makes a written decision with a statement of reasons, it will usually be made public and published on the internet, including on the AustLII website (www.austlii.edu.au). For more information about the decisions we publish, see our Publication of Decisions Policy on our website.

Orders and laws restricting publication or disclosure

The Tribunal may make orders restricting disclosure or publication of information about you or others or evidence in a review, if it considers an order is appropriate in the circumstances. You can apply for an order by writing to us stating what information you want kept confidential and why.

In some cases, a law or the Tribunal's Practice Directions require that certain information be kept confidential or that hearings be held in private. This includes certain information covered by certificates given under the Migration Act 1958 and the identity of applicants for protection reviews and their relatives or dependents. Hearings of Protection reviews must be held in private.

Access to information

Under section 362A of the Migration Act 1958, you can ask the Department of Home Affairs to give you access to the written material that it has given to us for the purposes of the review.

For more information, including how you can access information we hold about you and how to make privacy complaints, see our Privacy Policy on our website www.art.gov.au, or call us on 1800 228 333.

How do I lodge an application for review?

Applications for review using this form can be lodged by email, by post, or in person. Available options are set out in the table on the next page.

An application for review using this form is taken to have been lodged with us at the time that it is received by us.

If you wish to apply online, which is a convenient 24 hours, 7 days a week service, go to www.art.gov.au.

What happens once I lodge the application for review?

We will send you a letter confirming receipt of your application. We will also ask the Department to send us relevant documents relating to your case. For further information on the conduct of reviews, please refer to our website.

The Tribunal may schedule an oral hearing to allow you to present your case and give evidence. In some cases, however, the Tribunal must make a decision without holding an oral hearing. You should provide any written submissions and supporting evidence as soon as possible.

Changes to your contact details

While we are dealing with your application you must immediately advise us, in writing, of any change in your contact details (including changes to your residential (home) address). You should also advise the Department of any change in your address or other contact details. If you are unable to collect your mail, you should arrange for someone to collect your mail on your behalf.

You must also inform us immediately in writing if:

- you change your authorised recipient or representative, or cancel your representative's authority to act on your behalf, or
- the contact details of your authorised recipient or representative change.

If we do not receive a response to important correspondence we send you, your case may be decided without further notice.
